An anchor of flowers was carried to the New York delegation sad a suffed eagle carried for the procession. The band struck up more patriotic airs, and flags and banners were waved and he excitement gained the fever point, because the Cleveland vote had nearly reached the necessary two-thirds. At this juncture, when the success of Cleveland was certain, some of the minority delegates left the hall. Outside the artillery because to boom, and inside the uproof was tremendous. Then the change of California was announced to Cleveland as Thurman S. Mr. Menzies, of Indiana, changed the vote of that state to Cleveland. Kansaschanged also for Cleveland 17, Bayard 1.

CHICAGO, July 11.-There were great crowds outballoting, and heavy cheering followed. It was half past five before the evening session was called to order, and the first business done was the adoption of a resolution electing Mr. Vilas chairman of the convention, as chairman of the convention, as chairman of the convention, as chairman of the convention as candidates. A telegram was received from the president of the New York produce exchange, stating that the business men of New York were solid for Cleveland.

One can easily enough picture the employment if one knows what a thriving country store is, its outer ranging with scarcely time for intermediate on the New York produce exchange, stating that the business men of New York were solid for Cleveland.

The convention then proceeded to the call of the roll for the nomination of a candidate for vice-president.

Mr. Scarles, of California, came to the platform. He said that California was a loving mother to her children, and they in turn were did evoted to her on her behalf, and as the representative of the delegation from the Pacific coast, the presented for their suffrages a man who had been eminent among his fellow men, who in the councils of the nation had been pre-eminent, who had led their soldiers to battle, who had assisted in upholding the banner of the country. He presented the honored name of General Williams R. Rosecrans, the hero of Stone river, a faithful soldier, a grand-old commander whose image was impressed on the hearts of all men who served under him. [Cheers for Rosecrans.]

Mr. Branca, of Colorado, nominated Joseph E. McDonald.

Mr. Lacon, of Georgia, said he was commissioned by his delegation to present the name of a man eminent in war, in peace, the distinguished commander of gallant soldiers, General J. C. Black, of Illinois." (Cheers for Black.]

Judge Black expressed his appreciation of the high and unmerited compliment paid him. It was absolutely a surprise, but he had come here as the spokesman and representative of another citizen of the republic. He had put his hand in the hend of Joseph E. McDonald, and while that gentleman's name was before the convention he Black lould not appear as hany sense his rival for any position. He, therefore, respectfully declined the nomination.

Mr. Munn, of Illinois, hoped that the declination would not be received. He paid a high compliment to General Black, saying that when the surgeon was operating on his arm after battle, he declared that although he lost an arm, his whole seed.

Josiah Davis Dav Tampa, Fla., last Saturday on one of the north bound mail trains. As soon as darkness set in she went to Clark's house, called him out and shot him through the heart with a 38-caliber pistol, the ball passing clear through his body and lodging in the back of his coat. Clark died in a short time after being shot. The woman says that Clark had been promising to marry her for several months, and told her if she would come to Sanford he would fulfill his promise. She came to Sanford, according to engagement, and exhausted all her money on the trip and paying board, and he proving unfaithful to his pledge, she ended his career in the terrible manner above related. This is the story the woman tells of the affair. Sheriff Tom Shine went to Sanford Monday morning and brought her back to Orlando, and lodged her in jail to await legal proceedings.

Burch, in Telfair county, on the 24th day of June, 1884, after a brief illness. He was about 98 years of age, according to the best data obtainable, as stated to us by his son Andy. He raised a large family of children—seven sons and four daughters. He lost five sons in the war, and edisce which adorns the corner of New Orleans and Solomon streets. The church people contributed fiberally to the enterprise, because the rival Methodist organization in Broadway had raised a new church building, and the deep water lasptists just across the way had done likewise. In due time the house was ready for occupation, and many and many has been the time when the solidity of the building has been put to the test, for your African Methodist is no gospel sluggard when she has on her war paint. However, to make a long story short, Mr. Westbrook has never been paid in full for his work, and a few days ago a notice was served on the church people that the church house would be sold under the builders' law unless the money long due was paid over. In consultation with a member of the congregation on yesterday, a just debt. "Captain Westbrook has been a lenient creditor," remarked this member. "He has waited patiently for a long time and has never pressed the church, and still we are not altogether at fault." "Wherefore" inquired the scribe. "Well, you see we had a little scandal some years ago in the church, which we kept smothered. We raised the sum due Mr. Westbrook and gave it to the pastor to pay ver to him, and he skipped!" Railroad for Marble Mines. Messrs. Baylor & Baylor, No. 7 North Brestreet, have just finished a preliminary surfor the Georgia marble company, who o about 7,000 acres of land in Pickens coun Georgia. Their quarries are near Tate tion upon the Marietta and North Geor railroad, which road is now running fi Marietta to Ellijay, in Gilmer county. The of their largest quarries, "Tate," "Allred" No. "36" are to be connected with a railroad of the same gauge as that of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad. These quarries can be reached with a good grade and light curvature. The marble is of fine quality containing about ninety-six per cent of pure carbonate of lime, and it will take a very fine polish. Samples of their marble can be seen at the office of Baylor. It will take over seven miles of railroad to connect their three principle quarries, which can be built quiekly and at a comparatively light cost. This company expects to build this road at once and it will then ship its marble to all sections of the country. The officers of this company are, H. C. Clements, president; Mr. B. Bave, secretary and treasurer, Mark H. Seddail, vice president, J. A. Dowar, general manager.

RAILROAD NEWS.

THE HEADLIGHTS RUNNING INTO

provements at the East Tennessee, Virginia and peorgia-The Georgia Press Zzourzion-The Cincinasti Southern-The Baltimore and Ohio Victory-Railroad Notes

Railroad news, like railroad traffic, is slack. Colonel R. H. Lacy, of the Penn and J. M. J. railroad, is in Atlanta. Hugh Inman and family left for Tate springs resterday, over the Kennesaw route.

Traffic Manager A. B. Wren left for a week's trip in North and South Carolina yesterday. L. S. Brown, general passenger and freight agent of the Georgia Pacific, was in the city

Cars crossed Crawford creek, near White Sulphur Springs, on the Columbus and Rome extension, yesterday.

Two sleepers occupied by New Orleans tourists passed through Atlanta yesterday for the summer resorts on the Kennesaw route.

Naxt week will make it lively for railroads running into Augusta. Amusements for nearly every day, and the passenger traffic is expected to be heavy.

C. S. Shattuc, Ohio and Mississippi passenger agent, with headquarters at Griffin, Georgia, was in Cincinnati Thursday. His friends in Atlanta are legion.

Mr. Bradford Dunham, late general manager of the Louisville and Nashville, now vice-mesident of the Baltimore and Ohio, was in the city yesterday, and left last night for Louisville.

A prominent railroad official who has been for some time experimenting with a patent incubator, was rewarded this week with a broad of one hundred and forty little chicks. The incubator is his own make and proved successful on second trial.

A change in the schedule of the Central railroad will go into effect on and after tomorrow. The trains leaving for Savannah and Macon, which now leave at 9:00 p. m. will leave at 7:20 p. m. It is rumored that the Western and Atlantic and West Point will also change schedules so as to conform with the new Central schedule.

We were shown yesterday a beautiful specimen of railroad work, turned in Buffalo, N. Y. by Messrs. Matthews, Worthrop & Co., of that city. The specimen consists of scenery in and around Buffalo produced by the heliotrope process. The work is magnificent, and a true evidence of perfection in railroad printing. Portraitures of scenery along routes for advertisement purposes, which before this time have been so expensive, are by this process made obtainable at comparatively low rates.

Improvement in Adairsville.

DAIRSVILLE, Ga., July 11.—[Special.]—Superitient Anderson, of the Western and Atlanticad, has ordered improvements at Adairsvill or which are much needed, and our fown council improve a pretty park about the depote Improvement at the E. T. Va. and Ga. The contemplated additions at the East Tennesse, Virginia and Georgia Short line depot are completed, and render the place for more attractive and convenient than formerly. The improvements consist of an express room, baggage room and gentlemen's sitting room. For convenience and accommodation this depot now ranks high.

The Georgia Press Excursion.

The cards of transportation and accompanying circulars of the railroads to the Georgia press association will be issued Monday. The chedule agreed upon affords stopping-over privileges along the line, which is one of the most attractive commercial and tourist routes most attractive commercial and tourist roaces in the south. Such points as the Luray caverns, the Natural bridge, Pen Mar, Blue mountain, Md., Roan mountain, etc., will be visited. From Atlanta to Baltimoro the excursionists will pass over the E. T., Va. and Ga., S. V., N. and W. and W. M. roads.

The Cincinnail Southern Gauge.

The Cincinnati Southern trustees met Thursday but accomplished nothing toward either terminal facilities or changing the gauge. Secretary Tatem was instructed to write for additional legal opinions on the gauge question to Hon. John O. Carlisle, of Kentucky; to Senator Isham G. Harris, of Tennessee, and to Hon. W. F. Cooper, of Nashville. With an adverse opinion from Tennessee already on file, and if, as Mr. Ferguson expects, a similar view is givon by Carlisle, of Kentucky, then the gauge question will go up on the shelf.

Railroad for Marble Mines.

Messrs. Baylor & Baylor, No. 7 North Broad street, have just finished a preliminary survey for the Georgia marble company, who own about 7,000 acres of land in Pickers county, Georgia. Their quarries are near Tate sta-tion upon the Marietta and North Georgia deorgia. Their quarries are hear fate suftion upon the Marietta and North Georgia railroad, which road is now running from Marietta to Ellijay, in Gilmer county. Three of their largest quarries, "Tate," "Allred" and No. "36" are to be connected with a railroad of the same gauge as that of the Marietta and North Georgia railroad. These quarries can be reached with a good grade and light curvature.

The marble is of fine quality containing about ninety-six per cent of pure carbonate of lime, and it will take a very fine polish. Samples of their marble can be seen at the office of Baylor & Baylor. It will take over seven miles of railroad to connect their three principle quarries, which can be built quickly and at a comparatively light cost. This company expects to build this road at once and it will then ship its marble to all sections of the country. The officers of this company are, H. C. Clements, president; Mr. B. Bave, secretary and treasurer, Mark H. Seddall, vice president, J. A.

From the Cincinnati Enquirer.
There was some truth, after all, in the story There was some truth, after all, in the story that there was competition between the Baltimore and Ohio and the Vandalia interest for the possession of the Pittsburg, Cleveland and Toledo railroad, the indorsement of whose paper brought Commodore C. K. Garrison, the Andrews Brothers, of Youngtown, and Mr. William McCreery, of this city, into unpleasant funancial complications, and resulted pleasant financial complications, and resulted in the first named gentleman making an as-signment for the benefit of his creditors. It is stated on the best authority that the road was offered to Mr. Vanderbilt, and Mr. W. C. Quincy went over and inspected it at the suggestion of the Lake Shore people. The Baltimore and Ohio people, however, were, wide awake, and not desiring to lose so valuable a ink in their western connections, immediate y set about circumventing Mr. Vanderbilt there was a long consultation in this city or sunday last among the chief men of the Pitts burg and Western railroad company and representatives of the Baltimore and Ohio, a which it is supposed the purchase of the Pitts burg, Cleveland and Toledo railroad was de cided upon. At any rate, according to a p vate dispatch from Baltimore, the sale taken place, the Baltimore and Ohio be taken place, the Baltimore and Ohio being the purchaser, and the papers having been signed. The terms of sale have not been made known, but it is understood that the purchasing company agrees to lift the paper given by the Pittsburg, Cleveland and Toledo company and indorsed by Messrs. C. K. Garrison, Andrews Brothers and William McCreery, and release themfrom all responsibility. This transaction is of importance to Pittsburg business men and manufacturers, as it assures them of the uninterrupted operation of the new Western outlet opened by the Baltimore and Ohio and the Pittsburg and Western companies. The best English and French extracts may be equal in quality, but far superior to these in fragrance and durability is Murray and Lanman Florida Water, combining as it does the rich aroma of these perfumes with a freshness and permanency all its own. To that numerous class of delicate persons who sensitive herves are oppressed by the heavy odors of the European extracts, the Florida extracts, the genuine Florida Water comes as a special boon.

"What a beautiful bridge between old age and childhood is religion. How intuitively the child begins with prayer and worship on entering life, and how intuitively, on quitting life, the old man turns back to prayer and worship, putting himself again side by side with the infant," remarks Sir E. Bulwer Lytton, in his "Strange Story."

Yes, but between its distant abultments the bridge of life has many high and awful arches, through which the wild waters dash and roar in wrath and desolation. Prayer and worship alone do not sustain these. Nature's solid rocks must lie unshaken beneath, and human art and skill must rear and solidify the structure overhead. Tammany, or any subsequent dicker that may be made in New York city.

In the great state of New York, containing over 1,400,000 voters, the reform governor is which in spirit do him great injustice, is very strong among the people. He has not placed in the hands of every voter in a hotly obeyed the behests of the politicians, and no set of men has been able to use him to promote selfish or corrupt purposes; but what he has lost among the politicians, he has more than made good among the people, whom he has faithfully served upon all occasions. When his public career is examined, it is found that the has never preferred mere partisanship to the interests of the people. A severe pressure was brought to bear upon him at one time to induce him to sign a bill to turn over the fire department of his own city to his party friends. He vetoed the bill, and in the veto message is found this sterling entence:

"I believe in an open and sturdy partisanship, which secures the legitimate advantages of party supremacy; but parties were made for the people, and I am unwilling, knowingly, to give my consent to measures purely partisans, which will scentified or endanger their interests."

Poking about quietly in Buffalo for a day or two nce, I had an opportunity to converse with sev eral persons who had known their mayor long and well, I found a sterling regard for the man everywhere, and it was a regard uninfluenced by political bias. Among those best able to form independent opinions this regard was obviously unded on character. Among the people them selves there was a well defined conviction that he vas a man to depend upon. As one rough fellow said to me in the hotel saloon: "Well, I don't know !

I suppose that this kind of faith in character is one of the most inestimable discoveries that a man can make, and I was interested to find that the element of popularity did not grow out of the object of good-fellowship, or mere manners. I asiled to hear anyone-say that Grover Cleveland and any magnetism, or that he fascinated a crowd, or that he drew people after him with a personal glannour. On the contrary, I formed a very distinct notion that there was a class of men that he repelled, and that disliked him as easily, as naturally, and as singerely as a thief hates a magistrate or a smuggler hates a dead calm. Indeed it was impossible to discover either in the man's record or in the reputation that had grown up about him anything dramatic. The resultant heroism of his life is that common heroism of the "common" work-a-day world which does its duty, not for effect but for a principle and a purpose, and which, if it does not so easily catch the eye and the ear, is after all the enduring force that the people come to look for and rely upon when there is great work to be done. I looked into his law offices on Main street—this later laboratory where were evolved the legal functions that came into the public service of his own community. They were curiously solid and unpretentious, and upstairs were the bachelor rooms where for years Grover Cleveland had slept and worked. I examined them minutely, for one often obtains a glimpse of character by such entouring. And they were instantly in se that this kind of faith in character and slept and worked. I examined them minute, for one often obtains a glimpse of character such entourage. And they were instantly in licative of the simple tastes, methodical habits and studious life of the occupant. **FERSONAL APPEARANCE.**

His face, no less than his figure and action indicates strenuous vital force and that admirable co-ordination of faculties which is best expressed in the phrase, "a cool head." Those traits which are in part, the result of early and constant self training have given him the air of conscious and quiet power which belongs only to the triumph ant antagonist in the world's fight. His figure between the requirements is the tokens hereulean strength—massiveness is the quiet power which belongs only to the triumphant antagonist in the world's fight. His figure betokens hereulean strength—massiveness is the best word for it—and there is in the smoothly-shaven face the same token of equal solidity of character, with the suggestion of physical vigor in the soft brown mustache that strongly contrasted with the scantiness of hair on his head. There is a slight tendency to corpulency—as is usually the case in vital temperaments—and a double chin is begining to hang down over the simple white neekig. There is nothing phiegmatic in the man's manner. His face lights up with a sympathetic smile, and without becoming animated or brilliant he is at once interesting, unaffected, and intensely real.

The moment he found that I did not want to ask him about the future, and was quite content to listen to the past, he talked freely and familiarity. There was nothing in his humble origin and struggling career that he was ashamed of. I fancied he was rather proud of his early struggles. And it was not impossible in an hour's conversation to make some kind of measurement of the man's mind and character. Fasid to myself, this is the executive, not the reflective man. I don't suppose he is ever perplexed with questions of ethics. Such men have a steady poise of judyment that aswes a world of words. The right pathway is never obscured or hidden. With them the doctrinaire has a hard time of it, for instead of chasing a principle through the mazes of possibilities for the sake of the hunt they hold the dogs of dialectics in leash and, with unerringly clear sight sade constant good nature, whip them all back to the true scent. I was always struck with a single sentence in the second volume of Carlyle's "Prench Revolution," which, after those two volumes of bloody chaos, announces the arrival of Napoleon. The purport of the sentence, as I now recall it, is that "a man having now come upon the scene events begin operation. We were much opposed to the knife being asset, until all other means had been exhausted. So, we began to use different throat remedies sold at drug stores. We finally got to Brewer's Lung Restorer, and the effects wertruly wonderful; and after a few bottles had been taken they were entirely relieved of the trouble and their health fully restored. If any of my family should ever be similarly affected, I would, if necessary, travel around the world in order to get this remedy. Very respectfully, W. H. MANSFIELD, Macon, Ga.

Macon, Ga., August 15th, 1880.

With great pleasure I certify to the efficacy of that truly excellent preparation—Brewer's Lung Restorer. It has indeed proven to be a sovereign remedy in my family. For many months my wife has suffered from weak lungs, and has experienced great difficulty in breathing, so much so that she could not sleep at all at night; she also lost her appetite, and, in fact, ner condition was truly alarming. The Lung Restorer having been recommended by several friends, I resolved to get it and test its virtues, which I did, and with the most happy effect. She has taken but two bottles, and the result is wonderful. She now experiences no difficulty in breathing, her appetite is good, and she is rapidly regaining her strength and I am convinced its continued use will effect a permanent cure. I would, therefore, cheerfully recommend it to all who have weak lungs, as it cannot fall to be of great benefit to all who may give it a trial.

Yours trally,

GEO. W. SIMS.

"I have had no cause to change my opinion relative to the efficacy of Brewer's Lung Restorer in cases of diseased lungs. The benefit derived by my wife from its use has been permanent. My faith in its virtues is such that I cheerfully recommend it to all who are afflicted with pulmonary disease. Very respectfully, Entrois Constitution: Yesterday morning's Constitution, in an article entitled "Bent Again," reports me as having said "I don't care what the public says." I have no idea your reporter intended to do me the least injustice, but in the multiplicity of his duties he has so reported what I said as to give an impression very different from what the facts will warrant. In conversation relative to this matter he stated that an indignation meeting was being held because of the action of the commission. I asked who gouposed the meeting. He said he would ascertain and let me know hater. I amswered: "Well, I do not care what they say; I decided the matter as I thought right, etc., etc." The word public was not used, but if an indignation meeting was then in session, my remark applied to that part of the public thus engaged, though not even to them as an entire disregard of their good opinion, but rather in the sense that "I can't help it. I don't care what they say. I did what I thought right, it I strikes me that every good elizen should desire the respect of the public. I certainly have not arrived at a point where I have no care for their good or bad opinion. While-this is true. I am not disposed to so cater to any faction of the public as to decide a question involving a reputation, as that under discussion did Bent's, either for or against him, except upon my own judgment and on the evidence presented. I am not Mr. Green Dodd, Judge Waters or Mr. Ogletree, nor did I decide for them, but for myself. Mr. Ogletree differed with me as to what should be done. I believe he was thoroughly honest in his opinion. In all the important questions of life men do disagree, and probably will till "Gabriel blows his horn," Because they do is it evidence that one or the other is a villain;

I only know Mr. Green Dodd by reputation, have always heard him spoken of as a man eminent for his honesty and ability. Yet, I am told that even his decisions, while acting for the public, did not, in every lives on King street.

An Enthusiastic Jackson Meeting. Last night at Middlebrooks's hall on Pete street, there was a large and enthusiastic meeting atreet, there was a large and enthusiastic meeting in favor of Captain Henry Jackson for congress. A Jackson club was formed with a large membership, and rousing speeches were made by a number of gentlemen. Just as the meeting was about to adjourn, Captain Jackson, who had just reached the city from Henry county, appeared at the doorway. He was greeted with a hallstorm of cheers, and was called to the platform, where he made a brief address. The enthusiasm was unbounded, and every man in the hall came forward and enrolled his name as a member of the club.

A Hammond Club.

Last night the fifth and sixth ward supporters Hon. N. J. Hammond met at Red Men's hall, in Brooklyn, and organized a Hammond club. Speeches were made by Mr. Laban F. Smith, Judge Tompkins, Judge Lester and Mr. E. W. Martin, There were 150 present. Mr. J. H. Harwell was elected permanent president. The club adjourned subject to the call of the chairman. The second ward club will meet Monday night. Colonel Hammond will speak Tuesday night, probably at DeGive's opera house.
